

Tribal Justice

Two Judges, Two Tribes, One Goal

A new documentary about tribal judges creating justice systems from their traditions, modeling restorative justice in action

"There's a winner and a loser when you walk out of state court, straight up. That isn't okay here; it does not resolve the issue." —Abby Abinanti, Chief Judge of the Yurok Tribe

PBS

Broadcast Premiere

Check your Local Listings

www.pbs.org/pov

August 21, 2017

Tribal Justice

A film by Anne Makepeace

In Tribal Justice, two Native American judges reach back to traditional concepts of justice in order to reduce incarceration rates, foster greater safety for their communities and create a more positive future for youth. By addressing the root causes of crime, they are modeling restorative systems that are working. Mainstream courts across the country begin to take notice. A co-production of Vision Maker Media and American Documentary | POV.

WATCH ON POV

"Gritty, realistic, hopeful, and culturally grounded." —Duane Champagne, Professor of Sociology and American Indian Studies at UCLA and Professor of Law at UCLA School of Law

ENGAGE

Use the hashtag #TribalJusticePBS to spread the word about the broadcast and share your thoughts on the film. Connect with us on social media for the latest news, additional content and resources for Tribal Justice.

VISIT OUR WEBSITE

To learn more about the film and our featured judges, see upcoming screenings, and view free educational resources from POV.

HOST A SCREENING / BUY DVD

We are scheduling screenings all over the country and would love to work with you to screen at your organization! Email our outreach coordinator at to request a screening.

Facebook

@tribaljusticefilm

Instagram

@tribaljustice

Twitter

@AnneMakepeace

Web

www.tribaljusticefilm.com

Email

tribaljusticefilm@gmail.com

Makepeace Productions

